CONVENOR MESSAGE

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the World Cancer Congress - 2017 to be held from the 20th, 21st, 22nd September 2017 at Science City Auditorium, Kolkata, West Bengal, India

Cancer is a leading cause of death around the world, according to WHO which estimates that 84 million people will die of cancer between 2005 and 2015 without intervention. Low-income and medium-income countries are harder hit by cancer than the high-resource countries. The WHO estimates that by 2010, cancer has become the leading cause of death in the world. In 2008, approximately 72% of cancer deaths occurred in low and middle income countries. In high, upper and low middle income countries; cancer deaths exceed all infectious deaths combined. Low-income countries, while continuing to contend with a heavy burden of infectious diseases are struggling to deal with an ever-increasing burden of cancer.

The idea behind the "World Cancer Congress - 2017" is to integrate the knowledge of cancer researchers with the knowledge of clinicians and oncologists to understand, brainstorm, and comprehend the disease. The conference would provide a good range of topics, also the conference provides an important forum to secure a coordinated, multi leveled global response to address the spiraling cancer epidemic.

We hope you will join us in Kolkata, India for this unique multi-disciplinary and multi-institutional cancer conference.
